

WEEDON ISLAND PRESERVE CULTURAL AND NATURAL HISTORY CENTER

Poster Exhibit

EARTH from SPACE

Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC

EARTH from SPACE is a set of 20 large color reproductions of images captured by high-tech satellites constantly circling the globe. These satellite images provide clues about the dynamic nature of our planet, documenting environmental cycles, natural disasters, and human-made ecological effects. They record conditions and events that are nearly impossible to document on the planet's surface. Visit the Smithsonian Institution's companion website that compliments this national traveling exhibit at <http://www.earthfromspace.si.edu/>. This exhibit is free to the public and on display during regular Center hours through August 31, 2010.
